Lecture on Korean Political Economy

SOUTH KOREA: AN INSIGHT INTO ITS GROWTH STORY AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

by Dr. Sanjay Sharma

Given unpredictably depressed global economy and drastic changes in geo-strategic equations, Korea today faces some serious challenges that have potential to eclipse its achievements and prosperity thus far. Besides issues like aging human capital, socio-political discontent and slowdown in economic activities, Korea has to handle the North Korean nuclear threat at its doorstep amidst the tussle among great powers. The lecture focuses on the exigency of time to revisit our conventional wisdom, examines alternative ways to frame the problems, and suggests fresh perspectives that could add value.
