On the Way to Words

ORACY. DEBATE. PUBLIC SPEAKING

This event aims at addressing the issue of oracy as prominent in our language teaching at present times.

It is indubitable that, since its first conceptualization in the '60s, the notion of oracy has gained momentum and is now attracting the interest of a very wide audience of educators, creating a singular convergence between its multifarious scientific connections and grassroots applications.

In this gathering, the first of the kind in Italy, international experts will present their updated research in the field, favoring discussion and exchange of views among academicians, professionals and communities of practice.

The Dept. Of Oriental Studies at Sapienza University, Rome, in collaboration with TESOL Italy, welcomes all participants interested in the topic.
